Indigo Bay is an eco-friendly community, the first of its kind on Island, as a result, the site has preserved natural ponds, re-introduced indigenous palms and as of today maintains a site dedicated to the horses of Indigo Bay.

As a result of the recent infrastructure changes, all properties in Indigo Bay have seen a small increase in value. Further increases are in line upon completion of various luxury projects in the location of Indigo Bay hills.

Large retention ponds support a state-of-the-art water management system.

Indigo Bay's carbon footprint is further reduced by an on-location tree and plant nursery.
